Dear Mr. Fauntroy:

On behalf of the Director and all the employees of the Central Intelligence Agency, I want to thank you and express our sincere appreciation for your marvelous talk in our auditorium yesterday. It certainly was a fitting kick-off to our program on Black History and gave us all considerable food for thought. The power of your message was exceeded only by the brilliance of your delivery and you certainly made a lasting impression on all the employees who were fortunate enough to hear you.

We well appreciate the demands on your time which only adds to our gratitude for devoting such a large part of your busy day to us.

I know that all the employees join with me in extending to you our thanks and best wishes for good luck and Godspeed.

Sincerely,

JNM
